

BRING BACK BIG GAME TROPHIES

Lewis B. and Willis McCormick
Return from Long Hike
To Frozen North.

GRIZZLY BEARS AND MOOSE

Shooting Among Alaska Big Game
Good and Salt Laker Gets His Share of Pelts.

Lewis B. McCormick of this city, and his brother Willis of New York have returned from an extended hunting trip to Alaska. Mr. Lewis McCormick modestly stated this morning that the trip was devoid of unusual features, but judging from the amount of big game killed by the two well known young men and the distance they traversed the trip must have been a most interesting and instructive one.

The young men left Salt Lake about two months ago for the "frozen north" and went to Telegraph Creek, where they secured their outfit necessary for a long hike through rain and snow. They hunted principally near the headwaters of the Stikine river and around the Stikine lakes. They were in the latitude of the Yukon and about 100 miles south of the arctic circle. They found an abundance of big game but Mr. McCormick states that they did not get an unusually large bag.

"The weather on the trip," said Mr. McCormick, "it rained or snowed practically all the time, but we had a good outfit and enjoyed the trip greatly. The game consisted principally of caribou, moose, mountain sheep and grizzly bear, and we got our share of each."

"We crossed the Ashcroft trail into Klappan into the region of the Stikine lakes and the Dece lake, the famous gold mining district where there has been so much excitement for many years."

"This is a great fur bearing country and the people and the Indians are prosperous. There are plenty of martens, mink, wolverines, otter, etc., and the Indians, consisting principally of Tall Tans, Cascas and Bear Lakes, are doing well. They trade generally at Telegraph Creek and get from $40 to $50 for marten."

Mr. McCormick stated that he took about 36 pictures of various places visited, scenes along the roads, camps and some of the game killed, but owing to the rain and snow which fell constantly the negatives were failures.

WOMEN CLUBS AT MANTI

Despite inclement weather and delayed train scheduled program is carried out.

Special Correspondence.

Manti, Oct. 21.—With an arctic in no wise dampened by the inclement weather, the women of the State Federation met here today and proceeded with matters scheduled for the convention. Owing to a delayed train, the meeting set for 2 o'clock was postponed till 4 o'clock. The function opened with the singing of "America," and prayer by Rev. G. W. Martin, after which Mayor W. B. Lawrence of Manti, welcomed the visitors in a brief speech. He said that while not acquainted with the work of women's clubs, he knew that it was in the line of progress and good and heartily endorsed it. He was glad to have them meet in Manti, and gave them a cordial welcome to the city.

Mrs. Kate G. Snow, president of the Ladies' Literary club of Manti, also gave an address of welcome, stating that while the Manti homes might not offer elegance, they were rich in the spirit of hospitality, which was freely offered the visiting club women. They were glad to have them here, for each association means development, exchange of ideas and cooperation for combined ideals. There was once an idea that women's one sphere of thought and action was the home; but if the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, that hand should be steadied with a generous portion of the world's wisdom and knowledge, and it was this the women's club stands for to the women of today.

Mrs. A. B. Coray, vice president of the federation, responded on the part of the clubwomen, expressing the appreciation of the women of Salt Lake for their pleasure in participation.

LOAN FUND PROVIDED.

Mrs. McMillan, corresponding secretary, read a communication from Gov. Cutler, expressing regret at his inability to attend the session, and his interest in the federation work. Reports of the various officers were read and accepted. Three new clubs were admitted to membership, the Salt Lake Woman's league, the College club and the Women's Auxiliary of Ogden. Other business of the session was the establishment of a loan fund, enabling girls desirous of an education to borrow sums for their necessities; the appropriation of $150 as nucleus for a building fund for the Y. W. C. A., and the institution of a free scholarship at Cedar City. In addition to those now existing, Mrs. Tullance, of the Utah Sorosis, was elected recording secretary in place of Mrs. Yates, resigned. Music was furnished by Miss Dean Parry, and after adjournment the clubwomen had supper at "The Bench." In the evening a reception was tendered them in the high school building, where a musical program was given and refreshments served. The room was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and flowers.

The address of Mrs. Byron Cummings, president of the federation, was the most important of the session.

SALT LAKE WELL EQUIPPED.

Supt. Hunt of Street Railway Service Satisfied With Rolling Stock.

Supt. R. E. Hunt of the street railway service has returned from Atlantic City, N. J., where he went two weeks ago in attendance on the annual convention of the American Street Car association. Mr. Hunt reports a very attractive trip. The weather was all that could be desired, it being warm enough at Atlantic City for sun bathing, although he did not care to try it himself. The entire million-dollar wharf there, which extends far out to the ocean, was occupied by the exhibits covering every form and phase of street car operation. The number of electrical and mechanical appliances generally displayed was legion, but Mr. Hunt could not see that the Salt Lake system was supplied with appliances equal to the best of them. One considerable wassel made of a device the opening and closing car doors by pneumatic action operated by the motor man, but the advantages were not so apparent as to warrant any introduction here. There was also a fender to be operated by the motorman; but Mr. Hunt thought that with the motorman working his pump, handling the current and striking he had enough to do without having this new duty thrust upon him in case of emergency. So the automatically working fenders remain on Salt Lake cars. In accordance with the sense of the convention, a standard system of accounting was adopted to be used on all roads members of the association. Mr. Hunt noted a fine exhibit of all kinds of cars, but was unable to find any that were an improvement over those now in use in this city, while the new Salt Lake cars are vastly improved in eastern business conditions, but this is in the so-called snow in the west. The hard times cut down the eastern street car patronage materially, while he cannot see that they have affected street car travel in Salt Lake to any noticeable extent.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BERRY.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Julia Allen Berry will be held at the Ninth ward meetinghouse Friday, commencing at 2 p. m. Mrs. Berry died Tuesday, from dropsy and old age, and is survived by the following children: Charles L. and Ellen S. Berry of this city; James A. Berry and Mrs. George E. Berry of Rexburg, Ida.; Mrs. George E. and Mrs. John C. West of Ogden. Mrs. Berry and her husband, the late James B. Berry, were among the first converts to the Church in Bristol, Eng., in which city they were married, July 18, 1831. Mr. Berry performed missionary work for years in and about Bristol, and it was while thus engaged that he experienced exposure that resulted in death. The Berry home was always open to the church. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Berry came to Utah, bringing with her eight children, and her heroic struggles with adversity won the admiration of friends and acquaintances.

ADDRESS TO SOCIALISTS.

Socialists gathered in large numbers to listen to the address of Prof. George Kirkpatrick. The speaker was introduced by Rev. William T. Brown of the Unitarian church. Mr. Kirkpatrick was listened to with marked attention and many of his declarations as to present evils and the remedies he suggested were received with applause.

The speaker devoted much of his time to the wrongs of the wage-earner and declared that conditions were changing. He said that as habits and customs of living were constantly changing so the ethical and religious views would undergo and there would be a new order of things and that now was the time for radical changes. He said that the wage-earners were about to face a great crisis because of the power of the capitalist class. He said the latter class was keeping men idle by the millions, and that the remedy for present social and industrial evils is Socialism. He referred to his debate with Henry Clews, the banker, and said the latter was unable to answer the questions put to him by the speaker. At the conclusion of the meeting a collection was taken up to defray the expenses of the same.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

Frank S. Monnett, the Ohio "trust buster" who is stumping the west, paid a visit to the university before leaving the city. He made no speech, confining himself to a tour through the buildings and about the grounds. He was delighted with the "U" and thought its location, the grandest he had seen anywhere. Mr. Monnett is a member of the board of regents of the Ohio state university and is keenly interested in all things educational.

The newly organized mandolin glee club is holding practice gatherings three times a week and under the instruction of Prof. C. D. Schettler, is making splendid progress.

At the University of Utah yesterday afternoon, managers of class debates held a meeting and debates were arranged for to take place after the football season. A trophy cup will be offered to the winning team.

At a meeting of the medical tie was decided to arrange for the annual football game between the medical and law schools. H. Leonard was elected manager of the athletic teams and the following were chosen for the positions named: F. D. Stewart, captain of the football team; W. Henderson, captain of the basketball team; and Harold Wilkinson, captain of the "gym" team.

Students are getting their throats and lungs in pretty good condition under the directions of Yell Master Richard W. Young, Jr., and practices are held around the flag pole every day.

In a short time the organization of the Mandolin and Guitar club will be perfected. About 25 members reported for practice yesterday afternoon, and a great deal of enthusiasm was shown.

In all probability there will be a debate between the University of Nevada and the University of Utah. The former has issued a challenge to the university, and the latter will doubtless accept. Some time ago the relations between the two institutions were not exactly cordial, but the students at the latter are not adverse to patching up the difficulty.

INDIA NOTES.

Consul-General William H. Michael, of Calcutta, submits the following items pertaining to the industry and commerce of British India:

The actual number of bales of jute consumed by the Calcutta mills during the year ended June 30 fell short 135,014 bales of their calculation. The number of bales consumed was 2,721,599.

The product of petroleum by the Burma wells for 1907 shows an increase over the previous year. The number of gallons for 1907 was 148,880,000, valued at $2,367,942, against 137,542,221 gallons, valued at $2,328,330, in 1906, and 142,597,302 in 1905.

The amount of copper ore mined in Burma during 1907 was 1,039,935 (value—113 pounds), worth $16,590. This was obtained in the Mandalay district. This shows a decrease of over 50 per cent compared with last year. The marble quarried in this same district last year was valued at $2,238.

The manufacture of handkerchiefs and shawls in the piece on hand looms in Madras Presidency is on the increase. The export of these articles from Madras in 1906 was 1,812,656 pieces, valued at $36,725; in 1907, 1,926,538 pieces, valued at $133,805; and in 1907-8, 1,855,997 pieces, valued at $200,522.

The Indian railway board has concluded to substitute electric light for gas and oil on all passenger trains for reasons of safety to the public. At the end of 1907 there were 10,677 coaches lit by gas and 2,172 by electricity. The gas system used was 190,638 pieces, and the electric light system Stone's although other systems are being experimented with.

The government of India is considering the loss in revenue of the telegraph department. The introduction of the four-anna (8 cents) telegram has proved a very heavy expense, and it seems highly probable that the six-anna (12 cents) telegram will have to be introduced in its stead. It is understood that chambers of commerce will be consulted before any new rates are fixed.

The export of cinchona bark from the Madras plantations owned by Europeans has declined by reason of foreign competition. The average annual export for the five years ending 1906 was 1,338,938 pounds, valued at $11,738, while that for the year 1907-8 was only 413,200 pounds, worth $26,062, all going to England. The Indian exports from Madras declined in the same periods from 20,345 hundredweight, valued at $1,100,592, to 10,519 hundredweight, valued at $546,450.

WORLD'S OLDEST LAWSUIT.

Final settlement has just been made in a lawsuit which had been pending in the courts of the state of Oaxaca for 246 years. The dispute arose between the local authorities of the town of Yodome and Nunu over the question of the legal boundary line between the two villages. Both towns held titles to the same land, the conflicting grants being made by the colonial government. The titles held by private parties were also involved, and each town brought suit against the other for the land claimed to be justly due it.

The suit dragged along for the first 100 years, one legal step after another being taken by the contending towns. Another century passed, and then another and still the suit was undecided. During all this time the people of the respective towns were arrayed against each other in bitter enmity, and many have been the armed conflicts that have taken place between the opposing factions.

The father of President Porfirio Diaz was a native of Yodome and stood high in the little country community because of his mental ability. He took an active interest in the long-pending suit, and during his lifetime made every effort to get a final decision of the case. He was unsuccessful, and as the years dragged by President Diaz gave the matter his personal attention not long ago, and the ancient records relating to the land grants and the conflicting boundary were carefully examined. The matter was then laid before the people of the two towns, and after many conferences a settlement of the case was reached and the suit in court was formally dismissed. It is said to have held a place upon the court docket longer than any suit in the world's history.—Denver Post.

Woman Interrupts Political Speaker.

A well dressed woman interrupted a political speaker recently by continually coughing.
